

Self-Development For Managers

HR02

Program Overview

Self-development is a conscious process of improving oneself in various aspects of life and is a constant pursuit of growth by building skills, knowledge, and experience. The ultimate goal for self-development is to be a self-fulfilled person. It encourages you to be proactive, set yourself objectives, commit to pursuing those objectives and help build a strong personality to become a better person than you were in the past. Effective managers are those that take ownership of their personal development and can set goals and targets that will improve their competence and ability to exceed in the role. This program helps expound some of the most essential qualities -courage, persistence, and patience - that will transform an individual career, personality and life.

Objectives

At the end the program, participants should be able to:

- To understand self to set the right pace to improve their personality
- To maintain better interpersonal skills which will enhances their productivity
- To set the space for positive work culture which drives individuals to their excellence.

Contents :

- Understanding Self
- Interpersonal Skills

- Positive Work Culture
- Self Development

Pedagogy

The programme would consist of a mix of personal assessments; individual and group exercises; concept sessions; and case discussions.

Key takeaways

The participants will be able to gain knowledge and insights for taking up high-priority management challenges apart from expansion of professional and personal network.

Who Can Attend The Program?

Junior and Middle level managers of public and private sector organizations, MNCs, Banks, Financial institutions, Government departments and other Organizations / Institutions.

Programme Director

Dr Ashok K Professor